Medsger bought the Atkinson place.

A Prize Hog Is Raised At Vanderbilt

Isaac Wolf, a Vanderbilt farmer came to town this morning with the prize hog of the season which he sold to H. L. Silcox, the South Pittsburg street butcher. The hog weighed nearly 700 pounds before it was dressed and tipped the scales at 408 pounds when it was ready for pork chops.

Incidentally Mr. Silcox secured a rare bargain when he handed over $62.50 for his hogship. This was at the rate of 11 cents a pound dressed. The prize hog is in Pittsburg this morning for live hogs is from $11.50 to $11.70 a hundred pounds.

The hog was 29 months old at the time of slaughter. The breed is Chester White and the hog was the pride of the Wolf farm. Mr. Wolf has other hogs on his place but they are not yet ready for market. Most of them are sows and Mr. Wolf hopes they will develop as well as the giant he sold this morning.

Government Files Its Brief On Tax Cases

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON March 15—The Government's brief in the corporate tax cases was filed in the United States Supreme Court today. Solicitor General Bowers prepared the brief in response to fifteen miscellaneous companies who are defendants against the imposition of the tax.

He argues the tax is not direct upon property and says this excise is upon carrying on or doing business and says such companies need apportionment among the states according to their population. The brief denies that it is a direct infraction of the States power to authorize for national corporations or joint stock companies.

The government argues the tax excise is uniform and in accordance with the Constitution, and doesn't take property without process of law.

The Relatives Of Frank Smith Will Aid Him

UNIONTOWN March 15—Stanley Smith brother of B. Frank Smith arrived in town this morning. With A. J. Smith he consulted Attorney T. P. Jones. Indications point to the entire family standing by Smith during his trouble.

The reports that Smith spent much time in Connellsville and promenaded the main thoroughfares of the town are erroneous. Smith was hardly more visible in Connellsville than he was on the jail steps at Uniontown. He came here on Monday evening following the shooting and got out of town the next night going to Pittsburg. During the day he remained under cover near Connellsville. He returned Thursday, and stayed long enough to get shaved and then started to Dunbar turning to the lower yards here a mile above town and caught a train for Rockwood.

A very brief special session of the School Board, one lasting less than 20 minutes, was held last evening for the purpose of electing a Truant Officer and transacting any other important business that might come up. A quorum of the Board arrived at 8 o'clock.

There were four candidates for Truant Officer. On the second ballot Constable Russell E. Stillwagon of the Fifth Ward was elected. David Randolph was his most formidable opponent, while Harry Miller also had several votes. W. H. Shaw was also a candidate. There was a deadlock on the first ballot, Stillwagon lacking one vote. There was a shift when the vote was taken once more and an election effected. Mr. Stillwagon is an efficient officer and the Board believes he will make good on the new job.

The bond of Baker, Smith & Company, to cover the heating contract, was approved. R. K. Smith was granted the use of one of the vacant rooms in the Seventh street building to hold a summer normal. The Board then adjourned.

FIREMEN'S STRIKE JOLTS RAILROADS.

Suddenness of Action Strikes Gloom Into the Hearts of Magnates.

MEDIATION IS THE ONLY HOPE

Firemen Announce That Unless Radical Concessions Are Made This Afternoon Committees Will Return Home and Prepare For Fight.

United Press Telegram.

CHICAGO March 15—The sudden decision of the firemen to strike has caused consternation among the railroad managers. Chairman Nixon, General Manager of the 'Frisco system, called a committee meeting this morning to discuss the next move for the railroads.

The decision to call the strike was reached at midnight and interference by the Federal authorities is the only hope to avert a tieup. The firemen have announced that unless radical concessions are made this afternoon the committees will return home and prepare for an immediate strike. Their order will affect 27,000 men.

President Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen said the day and hour of the strike had been decided upon but will not be announced now. He added that the time is not five days off.

Advices from the Middle West and Pacific Coast quote the railroad managers as declaring they do not expect a strike and are making no preparations. Labor officials in the same cities are equally sure there will be a walkout and predict it will equal the general strike of 1894. It is also predicted that other railroad orders will be involved. The last general strike cost the railroads $4,000,000 in loss of property and five times that amount in loss of traffic. The strike also cost 17 lives and President Cleveland sent the regular army troops to Chicago.

AN AWFUL SLAUGHTER OF UNIONTOWN FIVE

Connellsville High Beat Them 45 to 11 in a Rather Scrappy Game.

Connellsville High School put it all over Uniontown at basketball last evening defeating the High School team of that place 45 to 11. The High School boys from the County Seat played like Central Leaguers. The game was a scrappy one from start to finish and it was the snap and ginger the boys injected into the contest that kept it from becoming monotonous.

In the last half Marshall of the locals and Culver of the Uniontown team were ejected from the game. They had been jangling most of the evening and Referee Thomas decided they had best watch the game from the bench.

Connellsville played the best ball every minute of the game. The first half ended 26 to 3 in favor of the locals, so they loafed along in the second half. A good crowd witnessed the contest. The lineup:

Connellsville 45	Uniontown 11
Scott	Baer
Marshall	Coughenour
Forwards
Buttermore	Johnson
Center
Dilworth	Abraham
Bishop	Culver
Guards

Substitutions—Addis for Dilworth, Fossetman for Bishop, Bishop for Marshall, Crock for Culver.

Goals—Scott 9, Marshall 1, Buttermore 2, Bishop 9, Addis 1, Fossetman 2, Baer 1, Coughenour 4, Johnson 1.

STUCK IN THE MUD.

Pick and Shovel Needed to Dig Auto Out on West Side

It is great sport to own an automobile but there are times when a horse or Shanks mare is good enough. Dr. J. French Kerr met with an experience yesterday afternoon which shows this.

While cutting "cross lots" on the West Side hill, Dr. Kerr struck a soft spot and the rear wheels of his Jackson sank hub deep in mud. It took about an hours work with pick and shovel to dig the car out sufficiently to enable it to pull away with its own power.

A PERMIT GRANTED TO INSPECT A MINE

Somerset Farmer Seeks Court's Aid in Finding Out How Much Surface is Over Coal.

Special to The Courier.

SOMERSET March 15—A petition has been filed by Jesse Crist and Sarah Crist of Jenner township asking Judge Kooser to make an order permitting them to inspect Mine No. 1 of the Quemahoning Coal Company in order that they may ascertain whether sufficient surface support is being left in accordance with a reservation in a deed.

Mr. and Mrs. Crist sold their farm of 250 acres in Jenner township to S. H. Cauffiel of Johnstown in April, 1907, and Mr. Cauffiel subsequently transferred the property to the Quemahoning Coal Company of which D. B. Zimmerman is President.

In both deeds there were reservations of sufficient coal to support the surface of Crist's farm. The petition sets forth that on last Thursday Crist and an engineer undertook to enter the mine to determine whether the company was leaving sufficient surface support but were denied admission by the company's policemen. The petition prays that the court make an order permitting Crist and his engineer to inspect the mine.

TELLS STORY OF WANDERING

Day After the Murder He Went as Far as Jail Steps to Surrender and Then Changed Mind—Visited Connellsville and Nearby Places.

B. Frank Smith double murderer, is under arrest and in the county jail at Uniontown awaiting trial for killing his father, D. P. Smith, and Evans Moser, his brother-in-law. The murder took place near Dunn station on the night of February 27.

The capture of Smith was in striking contrast to the manner in which he had been sought. He offered no resistance, carried no weapons and only asked of his captors "Don't hurt me." He was apprehended by Section Foreman Lewis Fee and M. M. Malone, a veteran railroader, between Beechwood and Morgantown yesterday afternoon. While Sheriff P. A. Johns and his deputies were scouring the county in big red automobiles, armed to the teeth and ready to shoot at sight, Smith was wandering about the country unarmed mingling with the crowds in both Uniontown and Connellsville, and apparently unconcerned whether he was captured or not.

On the night following the murder, while bloodhounds were scouring the country in the vicinity of Smith's home, the fugitive calmly walked into Uniontown, sauntered up to the county jail and thought of surrendering. He walked up the steps leading to the jail and paused, arm uplifted as he started to ring for admittance. He changed his mind, slowly descended the steps and then walked to the Baltimore & Ohio depot. This was about 8 o'clock.

Smith's story of his wanderings as told a representative of The Courier last evening while taking a bath follows:

On the night of the trouble, as he referred to it, Smith crossed the country between Brownfield and Hutchinson and went up on the mountain. He remained there until the next evening, when he walked into Uniontown intending to surrender. He went as far as the jail door but changed his mind. He walked to the Baltimore & Ohio depot as the town clock struck 8 o'clock and caught a freight train to Connellsville. He went on to Pittsburg and then came back to Connellsville. It was at this time he went into a barber shop and was shaved. He had his beard and mustache shaved off. He then went to Dunbar but returned to Connellsville and took a freight to Rockwood. From there he went to Harpers Ferry, W. Va. and continued to Harrisonburg, the county seat of Rockingham county, Virginia. From there he went to Wheeling. Sunday night he was in Fairmont and Grafton and yesterday he spent between Morgantown and Beechwood. He was hurried towards Morgantown when he met Fee.

Lewis Fee the section foreman who identified the fugitive at one time attended school when Smith was teaching. He and M. M. Malone made the capture assisted by J. I. Malone, F. L. Curtis, C. L. Radcliffe and G. Frank Roberts. Fee and Malone brought the man to jail. They had followed him in a light engine which came along some time after Smith asked Fee the way to Morgantown. Smith said then he was on his way to Uniontown, intending to surrender.

Smith made no resistance when apprehended. He was not armed. He had 47 $20 bills on his person, the fresh bills he used the night of the murder and a pair of field glasses. He also carried his false teeth which he had removed.

Another canard was spiked by Smith himself this morning when he declared that he had not seen a Uniontown morning newspaper since the time of the murder.

The case will not be tried at this term. This is learned on excellent authority. A motion for continuance will be presented and the trial will go over until the June term. Additional counsel will be employed by the defense.

Smith today is a nervous wreck. He declares he has not had sleep for more than three nights since the shooting. He is a broken man. Asking to see his wife word was sent her last night that he is under arrest and a prisoner in the county jail.

"I do not know why I did the shooting. I must have been crazy." A short time later he declared vehemently, "I am crazy. I have been crazy for two years. When I used to come to Fairchance to sell berries people would stare at me and make remarks. No one knows the mental agony I have been through. I could not rest or sleep. I am glad to be in jail for it is the proper place for me," he continued.

A. J. Smith of Smithfield, uncle of the prisoner, visited him in his cell today.

Two Spring Openings Attract Big Crowds of Prospective Buyers.

A record breaking crowd attended the annual spring opening of the spacious furniture store of The Aaron Company yesterday afternoon and evening. The crowd commenced to gather as early as 1 o'clock and from that time up until after 11 o'clock last night the six large departments were thronged with people from Connellsville and surrounding towns.

Every department was stocked with a complete line of furniture which equals any collection in Western Pennsylvania. The two handsome plate glass windows were used to display carpets, rugs, curtains and bed room furniture. Following the usual custom the company distributed handsome china plates as souvenirs to the ladies. A musical program rendered by Kiferle's orchestra added greatly to the success of the opening.

On entering the vast steel constructed building you were directed to the elevator and taken to the fifth floor of the building which is devoted to rockers finished in Antwerp, Flemish, golden and weathered oak, parlor tables in oak, and mahogany, tabourettes of every imaginable shape and dining room chairs in every fine wood and style. In one corner of the large room was a library fitted up in Mission. The fourth floor was well stocked with davenports, sofa beds covered in velour, velours and leather, parlor furniture of every description, music cabinets and a complete line of office furniture.

One of the attractions on the third floor was a bed room decorated with blue and furnished with a magnificent bed room suite of golden tuna mahogany. The display of bedroom suites in golden oak, curly birch, mahogany, tuna mahogany and bird's eye maple is one of the largest ever exhibited in any furniture store in Western Pennsylvania. There was also a wide assortment of dressers, and princess dressers, chiffoniers and cheval mirrors, backed by scores of bed room rockers and chairs to match in any wood.

The second floor is devoted exclusively to carpets, linoleums, matting, curtains, and drapery. A color scheme of blue was carried out in a manner which produced a very pretty effect.

The first floor has dining room furniture gathered from the world's ends. Great lines of sideboards, buffets, china closets, extension tables, bookcases, were to be seen. In the rear of this floor are the offices. The sixth floor of the building is used for storage and uncrated furniture.

Opening at Kobacker's.

The store of H. Kobacker & Sons was the mecca for hundreds of people last evening, the attraction being the annual spring opening. As the affair was the first spring opening of the season the ladies were anxious to get a glimpse of the spring and summer styles. Between the hours of 7.30 and 10 o'clock the store was filled to its utmost capacity, women being in the majority. One of the attractions was a well selected musical program rendered by Kiferle's orchestra.

The one ledge was used to display ladies silk kimonas while on the opposite ledge was an elaborate display of lingerie dresses. At intervals on the counters were exhibited fetching lingerie and lace waists. The Kobacker store caters to the ladies and children exclusively.

The rear of the store is devoted to millinery and it was in that department that the ladies lingered. The department is in charge of Miss McClintock and Mrs. B. Reichstein who have turned out some very stunning creations in millinery. In this department was also exhibited ladies and children's suits and coats. The display of children's apparel was as large as that of the ladies. The two large display windows were in keeping with the interior store.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, lose something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it sups the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Cause of Eczema Explained.

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by myriads of microscopic animals gnawing the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased.

Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin. The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly. And we can say with confidence that we have the true remedy for Eczema in our store.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this. Will you try a bottle (at only 25c), on our recommendation? Ask for D. D. D. Prescription.

An Expert's Opinion Of Skin Diseases.

A prominent national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a case to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Graham & Company, Connellsville, and D. C. Eason, Dunbar, will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO

The Advantages of Custom Tailoring

Briefly stated, are as follows:

The suit will be an expression of your individual taste.

The patterns are exclusive and different.

The fit is perfect because it conforms to your shape, and not a "regulation" model.

The collar hugs the neck, the coat is the right length, the coat fronts do not "break."

For Custom Tailoring of Quality we are at your service.

PROFESSIONAL TEACHING.

The California Normal One of the Model Schools of the State—Its Complete Equipment and Competent Teachers.

Are you teaching? Do you expect to teach? Do you intend your boy or girl to teach? Of course, in any case you will want to attend a Normal School, for two or three reasons. First, you want to be a trained teacher, a professional. Second, the public more and more demands that kind of teacher. And third, probably least, you get a larger salary by being a trained teacher.

Have you selected the Normal School you will attend? If you have not, look into the merits of the Southwestern, at California. If you want to play, go to school for a good time, get a diploma that hasn't been won, don't read any further; we are not after you. A Normal School should be a professional training school, not an academy for the lower branches. We claim to be doing that professional work, bending every energy to that one end, with the result that our graduates get positions, get them at good salaries. We have the best and largest Model School in the State, and that is the real heart of any Normal School. The Training Teachers in the Model School are the best we can find. Think these things over. Professional work our aim; the training of teachers our chief business; and the best Model School in the State in which to practise.

For years this school has been a factor in the educational work of Southwestern Pennsylvania. In these later years, it has, at some risk, and in the face of opposition and prophecy of decreased attendance, adopted an absolutely professional standard. (The result has more than justified our belief and thoughtful, earnest prospective teachers want the best they can get). Our attendance has increased steadily, one hundred more enrolled in 1909 than in 1908. Think it over.

Of course we can give you music, vocal or instrumental, under the best of instructors, or, if you want a business training, our Commercial department is second to none. These departments are kept up because there is a large and growing demand for that sort of work; therefore we offer you the best. But after all, the school stands first, last and all the time as a professional training school for teachers. We have made a reputation in that work; a reputation that is growing among educators the State over.

A healthy locality; no saloons, good churches, out door and in door athletics—in fact, about all one could ask for as incentives to good work.

Have we interested you? It is impossible to say much that ought to be said in so small a space, but keep this in mind—the Southwestern State Normal School, at California, Pa., stands for the strongest and best in professional work.

The spring terms opens April 4th, 1910. For further information and catalogue address H. B. Davis, Principal.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 15, 1910.

THE CAPTURE OF MURDERER SMITH.

B Frank Smith, the man who deliberately shot and killed his father and his brother-in-law, near Fairchance over two weeks ago, was captured yesterday beyond Morgantown and lodged in the Fayette county jail. The Commonwealth will demand that he be tried at the present criminal court indictments having been found against him by the Grand Jury last week.

The story of Smith's wanderings as told by himself shows how readily a man with a price upon his head may walk unnoticed on the thronged streets of the towns while the countryside is being scoured and all the haystacks are being searched.

The special organ of Sheriff Johns lays great stress on the alleged fact that Smith spent several days in Connellsville. The evident purpose of the organ is to slyly, surreptitiously and with malice aforethought insinuate that the Mud Island sleuths were asleep on the job, not having eyes to see the picture printed on the handbills offering a reward for the capture of the murderer. It may be true that Smith did not have so much fear of capture here in Connellsville as he is reported as saying, because it was here that he shaved off his beard and mustache and otherwise disguised himself, and because here he was but little known if at all.

It will be remembered, however, that he says he came into Uniontown before this time, walked the public streets and went even into and upon the steps of the jail with intent to give himself up. The Sheriff and his sleuths were either themselves asleep at this time, or they were joy-riding over the county in that handsome automobile of the Sheriff's. As a criminal catcher this whiz-wagon has been useful at times, but it was not a whit better than the Mud Island police force in this particular case.

Some rather ill-natured criticism is made of the County Commissioners because they declined to hand out the reward offered for the capture of Smith at the moment of demand. The Commissioners have only followed custom and common business prudence in postponing payment until proper proof of claim is established. The rewards in the Youngstown kidnaping case were not paid until months after the recovery of Willie Whyte and the arrest of the criminals.

Smith has himself outlined his defence. It will probably be insanity. It is about all the defence he could make on the testimony as known. It will bring forth the old and unsettled question where murderous malignity ends and insanity begins. In that twilight zone between bloodthirsty cruelty and mental instability many crimes are committed.

The defendant should have a fair and impartial trial, however, and this he will we are sure receive in the Fayette county courts.

ROLLER SKATING IS NO CRIME.

The loud roar of the chief magistrate of Connellsville against roller skating on the sidewalks will not receive the endorsement of the children upon whom it is aimed, nor the grown up folks to whom it is intended to appeal.

The Connellsville children have no public playground. In this respect the town is decidedly in its duty to the children, and under these circumstances to order prohibiting the little ones from roller skating on the sidewalks is an insult added to injury.

The statement that the roller-skating children seriously interfered with anybody applies only to manifestly cranky persons, while the inference that they injure the sidewalks is ridiculous.

Burgess Evans has made some very commendable efforts at municipal reform, but in this particular case he had gotten in wrong. Roller-skating, even on the sidewalks, is no crime in Connellsville, and it cannot be in the future.

It might be interesting to know by what authority Burgess Evans issued his edict against roller-skating on the sidewalks. There are parents in Connellsville just stubborn enough to demand the legal reason in case their children are molested in their innocent enjoyment.

There is a foolish rooster in the Fourth Ward that crows all the time. He crows in the morning and he crows in the evening. His crow is a continuous performance. He must be a Democratic rooster of the Bryan type.

This is the last day for the Ground Hog and he made the most of it. From this time on the Comet will be the attraction.

The Angels of Reconciliation having failed to settle the Philadelphia strike, the Money Devils threaten to do it!

The Western railroads are threatened with a strike, not because the contending interests are unwilling to arbitrate, but because they cannot agree upon what should and what should not be the subject of arbitration.

What the Smith claimants seem to have needed most to support their contention was a lawyer.

The return of the modern Sciplo Africanus promises to be a triumphal march.

With the able assistance of the county authorities a moral plague-spot has been discovered and eradicated in Connellsville. Perhaps there are others. The Connellsville police force ought to be able to keep the town clean.

The comet is not as dangerous as some people.

Scottdale furnishes the latest case of didn't-know-it-was-loaded.

Some Uniontown men ran a mile wild when they hit the high-lights of Pittsburg.

False fire alarms are not a bit funny and a more earnest effort should be made to impress the fact upon the minds of the jokers.

Father Time was probably nursed in the lapse of ages.

Berlin came pretty nearly being the center of the bear market.

The Morgantown people have hopes of getting their new train to Connellsville, but Connellsville has no promise of a new noon train to Pittsburg.

Cook is coming back, probably to help with the Peary roast.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
BULLETIN.
DREADNAUGHT CARS.
The nub of railroading is first-class equipment and reliable service. The Pennsylvania Railroad provides this for the public. For many months big all-steel coaches, built like Dreadnaughts, have been operated on all through trains. Their easy riding qualities and steadiness of motion have been widely praised. The all-steel dining cars too have distinct advantages over the wooden ones. They are stronger and steadier, and the act of eating is made more enjoyable by the smoother movement.
There are also some steel Pullman Cars—Combined Parlor-Smokers and Baggage—in the service now. Travelers like them. They have plenty of elbow room and they glide over the rails. The Sleeping Cars are coming. Some four hundred parlor and sleeping cars will be in use by Summer.
These steel coaches and cars are the strongest vehicles ever built for passenger transportation. They are fire proof, break proof and bend proof. They represent the climax of safety and the perfection of comfort in railroad travel.
The Pennsylvania Railroad has always been the leader in all manner of improved equipment as well as in all methods of making their patrons more comfortable. This is why it is known and honored as The Standard Railroad of America.

Through The Wall

By CLEVELAND MOFFETT

Copyright, 1909, by D. Appleton & Co.

"Before I go in, Jaden, you'd better speak to Gibelin," whispered M. Paul. "It's a little delicate. He's a good detective, but he likes the old school methods, and he and I never got on very well."

"Good! I'll be back in a moment," and, pushing his way through the crowd of sensation seekers that blocked the sidewalk, he disappeared inside the building.

M. Pougeot's moment was prolonged to five full minutes, and when he reappeared his face was black.

"Such stupidity!" he stormed.

"It's what I expected," answered Coquenil.

"Gibelin says you have no business here. He's an impudent devil! 'Tell Beau Cocono,' he sneered, 'to keep his hands off this case. Orders from headquarters.' I told him you had business here, business for me, and— Come on, I'll show 'em."

He took Coquenil by the arm, but the latter drew back. "Not yet. I have a better idea. Go ahead with your report. Never mind me."

"But I want you on the case," insisted the commissary.

"I'll be on the case all right.

"I'll telephone headquarters at once about this," insisted Pougeot. "When shall I see you again?"

Coquenil eyed his friend mysteriously. "I think you'll see me before the night is over. Now get to work, and," he smiled meekingly as he departed, "give M. Gibelin the assurance of my distinguished consideration."

As M. Pougeot mounted to the first floor he was met at the head of the stairs by a little yellow bearded man with luminous dark eyes, who came toward him, hand extended.

"Ah, Dr. Joubert!" said the commissary.

The doctor nodded nervously. "It's a singular case."

At the same moment a door opened and Gibelin appeared. He was rather fat, with small, piercing eyes and a reddish mustache. His voice was harsh, his manner brusque, but there was no denying his intelligence.

Gibelin withdrew while Pougeot proceeded with his duties.

In general plan the Ansonia was in the form of a large E, the main part of the second floor, where the tragedy took place, being occupied by public dining rooms, but the two wings, in accordance with Parisian custom, containing a number of private dining rooms. In each of the wings were seven of these private rooms, all opening on a dark red passageway lighted by soft electric lamps. It was in one of the west wing private rooms that the crime had been committed.

M. Pougeot paused at the turn of the corridor to ask some question, but he was interrupted by a burst of singing on the left, a roaring chorus of hilarity.

"It's a banquet party," explained the doctor. "a lot of Americans. They don't know what has happened."

"Hmh!" reflected the other. "Just across the corridor too!"

A MAN IN EVENING DRESS LAY FACE DOWNWARD IN A LITTLE RED POOL.

Then briefly the commissary heard what the witnesses had to tell him about the crime. It had been discovered half an hour before, more precisely at ten minutes to 9, by a waiter, Joseph, who was serving a couple in No 6, a dark complexioned man and a striking, handsome woman. They had arrived at a quarter before 8 and the meal had begun at once. Oddly enough, after the soup the gentleman told the waiter not to bring the next course until he rang, at the same time slipping into his hand a ten franc piece, whereupon Joseph had nodded his understanding.

Ten minutes! Fifteen minutes! Joseph knocked discreetly, then again after a decent pause, and finally, weary of waiting, he opened the door. A moment later he started back, his eyes fixed with horror.

"Grand Dieu!" he cried.

"You saw the body, the man's body?" questioned the commissary.

"Yes, sir."

"And the woman?"

"Ah, I forgot," stammered Joseph. "She had come out of the room before this, while I was waiting. She asked where the telephone was, and I told her it was on the floor below."

"Did any one see her leave the hotel?" demanded Pougeot sharply, looking at the others.

"It's extraordinary," answered the doctor, "but no one seems to have seen this woman go out."

Again Pougeot turned to the waiter. "What sort of woman was she? A lady or—or not?"

Joseph clicked his tongue admiringly. "She was a lady, all right, and a stunner! Oh, there's one thing more!"

"You can tell me later. Now, doctor, we'll look at the room. I'll need you, Leroy, and you and you." He motioned to his secretary and to two of his men.

Dr. Joubert, bowing gravely, opened the door of No. 6, and the commissary entered, followed by his scribe, a very bald and pale young man, and by the two policemen. Last came the doctor, closing the door carefully behind him.

Stretched at full length on the floor near a pale yellow sofa lay a man in evening dress, his head resting, face downward, in a little red pool. He was evidently dead.

"Has anything been disturbed here? Has any one touched this body?" demanded Pougeot sharply.

"No," said the doctor; "Gibelin came in with me, but neither of us touched anything. We waited for you."

"I see. Ready, Leroy," and he proceeded to dictate what there was to say, dwelling on two facts—that there was no sign of a weapon in the room and that the long double window opening on the Rue Marboeuf was standing open.

Dr. Joubert's examination established at once the direct cause of death. The man, a well built young fellow of perhaps twenty-eight, had been shot in the right eye, a ball having penetrated the brain, killing him instantly. The face showed marks of flame and powder, proving that the weapon—undoubtedly a pistol—had been discharged from a very short distance.

"Doctor," asked the commissary, glancing at the open window, "if this man shot himself, could he, in your opinion, with his last strength have thrown the pistol out there?"

"Certainly not," answered Joubert. "A man who received a wound like this would be dead before he could wink. Besides, a search has been made underneath that window, and no pistol has been found."

"It must be murder," muttered Pougeot. "See what he has on his person."

These instructions were carefully carried out, and it straightway became clear that robbery, at any rate, had no part in the crime. In the dead man's pockets was found a considerable sum of money, a bundle of five pound notes of the Bank of England, besides a handful of French gold. On his fingers were several valuable rings, in his scarf was a large ruby set with diamonds, and attached to his waistcoat was a massive gold medal that at once established his identity. He was Enrico Martinez, a Spaniard widely known as a professional billiard player and also the hero of the terrible charity bazaar fire, where at the risk of his life he has saved several women from the flames. For this bravery the city of Paris had awarded him a gold medal and people had praised him until his head was half turned.

"Aha!" muttered the commissary. "There may be a husband mixed up in this. Call that waiter again, and—er—we will continue the examination outside."

With this they removed to the adjoining private room, No. 5, leaving a policeman at the door of No. 6 until proper disposal of the body should be made.

In the further questioning of Joseph the commissary brought out several important facts. The waiter testified that after serving soup to Martinez and the lady he had not left the corridor outside the door of No. 6 until the moment when he entered the room and discovered the crime. During this interval of perhaps a quarter of an hour he had moved down the corridor a short distance, but not farther than the door of No. 4. He was sure of this, because one of the doors to the banquet room was just opposite the door of No. 4, and he had stood there listening to a Fourth of July speaker who was discussing the relations between France and America.

"How did you stand as you listened to the speaker? Show me." M. Pougeot led Joseph to the banquet room door.

"Like this," answered the waiter, and he placed himself so that his back was turned to No. 6.

"So you would not have seen any one who might have come out of No. 6 at that time or gone into No. 6?"

"I suppose not."

"And if the door of No. 6 had opened while your back was turned would you have heard it?"

Joseph shook his head. "No, sir; there was a lot of applauding—like that." He paused as a roar of laughter came from across the hall.

The commissary turned quickly to one of his men. "See that they make less noise. And be careful no one leaves the banquet room on any excuse. I'll be there presently." Then to the waiter, "Did you hear any sound from No. 6—anything like a shot?"

"No, sir."

"H'm! It must have been the thunder. Now, tell me this—could any one have passed you in the corridor while you stood at the banquet room door without your knowing it?"

Joseph's round, red face spread into a grin. "The corridor is narrow, sir, and I"—he looked down complacently at his ample form—"I pretty well fill it up, don't I, sir?"

Anniversary Sale

We Announce a Great 10-Day Anniversary Sale

The Greatest Economizing Opportunity of the Season.

Father Time is kind to some business organizations—the deserving organization. "Time" has dealt kindly with this store. Three years ago this store wasn't much to boast of for size, stocks or service, compared to what it is today. But three years ago the spirit of the store, the aim and the methods of the store, were the same as now.

The best of merchandise at the fairest of prices, satisfaction guaranteed and the same courteous treatment to all has ever been, and ever will be our policy.

At this sale we are going to give you the biggest and best bargains you ever obtained in fresh, seasonable and desirable merchandise. We are remodeling our store, making it the most complete ready-to-wear store in Fayette county.

Every department will offer its best at prices far below regular. We have searched and scoured the market for the world's choicest wearables to stock our store in preparation for this event, and all is priced close to cost.

Consider the importance of our previous anniversary sales. This will eclipse all of them. Think of the savings you have accomplished at our past sales. Our 10-Day Anniversary Sale will make them look small by comparison. But just come—be your own judge—form your own opinions of our accomplishments. You'll vote this event our Masterpiece.

New Chickering, Knabe, Hardman and Estey Pianos Sell at Cost

110 Grand Pianos; Baby Grands, Quarter Grands, Parlor Grands, and Art Grands; Chickerings, Knabes, Hardmans and Esteys Offered at Cost Plus Selling Expenses.

An Opportunity to Buy a Grand Piano Without Paying a Dealer's Profit.

There are on our floors in Uniontown and throughout our other stores, ONE HUNDRED AND TEN NEW GRAND PIANOS.

These are in SEVEN LEADING MAKES—but are mostly made up of CHICKERINGS, KNABES, HARDMANS and ESTEYS.

In size they range from the popular BABY or MINIATURE GRAND up to the large size parlor grands. A few are shown in exquisite Art and period cases.

Another equal showing of grand pianos is not made by any one piano firm from Maine to California.

These grand pianos are offered this entire month at EXACTLY WHAT THEY COST AT THEIR RESPECTIVE FACTORIES with the bare cost of selling added.

OUR REGULAR PROFIT, which under regular conditions is always that to which the merchant is entitled, IS ENTIRELY ELIMINATED, in order to reduce this enormous stock preparatory to consolidating our business on April 1.

The terms of sale, according to our other advertisements, are cash, though we will arrange with any one desiring it for EIGHTEEN MONTHS' TIME, by their paying six per cent interest on unpaid balances for the time taken.

Benches or covers are not included during this sale, but will be sold for exactly what they cost us at the factory.

Lists of these grand pianos have been made up, showing the size and style of each make, the wood in which the case is made, the regular price and the sale price. These will be cheerfully mailed free to any one interested.

Any one desiring to place an heirloom piano in his home, should not overlook this opportunity. The grand piano is the perfection of the piano builders' art, and this stock is PAR EXCELLENCE. Each and every grand piano we purchase is selected individually for some specific point of merit in tone or action. This it is that this is an opportunity of a lifetime to purchase a carefully and individually selected, thoroughly seasoned grand of the best known reputation, without paying the profit that such instruments usually bear.

SPECIAL NOTE.

Any Grand Piano in stock at any of our other stores will be obtained for any one desiring it WITHOUT ADDITIONAL expense, in event we do not have the style or make desired up on our floors. Through this means we can place THE choice of the whole of our combined Grand Piano stock, (110 instruments) at your disposal.
